Prime Minister Narendra Modi's announcement that India would bid for the 2036 summer Olympics is a mark of aspirations and a sign of the confidence in India's global outreach. The Prime Minister's statement at the International Olympic Committee session in Mumbai that India "would leave no stone unturned" in its bid to host the 2036 sports extravaganza showed that the government is serious about its efforts to win it for the country. India also wants to host the Youth Olympics in 2029. Olympics is not just a sports event. It is also an economic, socio-cultural and political event that projects a country's soft power as no other world event does. Countries that want to assert or reassert their position on the global arena have opted to stage the greatest show on earth to seek legitimacy, to impress, to make political and diplomatic gains, or to promote tourism and the economy.

The venue for the 2036 Games will be decided and announced, after bidding, probably only in 2025. Mexico and Poland may also bid for the Games. An Olympics in India might cost about $20 billion (more than Rs 1.6 lakh crore at current rates). It will take a huge effort to make an Indian city ready for the event in about 10 years. India has improved its position at international sports events in recent years and made an impressive performance with a 107-medal tally at the recently concluded Asian Games. An Olympics ahead will be inspirational and can raise the country's global profile when it takes place. But the challenges it poses are huge. — In Deccan Herald

Dangling chair becomes tourist attraction

Dennis Township: A wooden chair perched on the edge of an exposed attic in Dennis Township, New Jersey, has become an obsession for thousands of people and even spawned its own dedicated social media groups.

A dilapidated house with a collapsed roof located in Dennis Township has become somewhat of a tourist attraction thanks to a small wooden chair perched right at the edge of its exposed attic. Many of those driving past the house on their way to and from work have become fascinated with this chair that doesn't really move but is destined to fall at some point. Some want to know how it wound up on the edge, others think it is nailed to the floor and a few want to know the home's history. But most are just interested in watching the chair until the day it inevitably falls to the ground.

Cat's 54.59-decibel purr breaks world record

Huntingdon: A British family's 14-year-old cat earned a Guinness World Record (GWR) when her ear-splitting purr was measured at 54.59 decibels.

Bella, a cat owned by Huntingdon, Cambridgeshire, resident Nicole Spink, was awarded the record for loudest purr by a domestic cat (living) after her sounds were measured by a Guinness World Records adjudicator working with an acoustic engineer.

GWR set the marker for the record at 50 decibels, a goal Bella easily cleared.

Her 54.59-decibel purr was enough to capture the record for a living cat, but the loudest purr by a domestic cat ever was recorded at 67.8 decibels.

"She purrs all day long! If there's food around, or cuddles, she always purrs," Spink told Guinness World Records.

Street vendors transform city into colourful marketplace

Mysuru, Oct. 20 (BLU&BCT)- Amidst the grandeur of Mysuru Dasara, a celebration that showcases the rich cultural heritage, there exists a community of individuals whose contributions are often overlooked but are essential to the festival's success.

They are street vendors, who bring life and colour to the streets during this annual extravaganza. One of the most remarkable aspects of street vending during festivals like Mysuru Dasara is the remarkable rise in earnings that vendors experience. And true to this culture, hundreds of them have come from all over, especially North Karnataka with their wares.

Notably, along with the usual teams of men, this year, many women street vendors have come, probably making use of the free bus travel facility provided for them to a place that draws vast crowds — both local and international visitors. The surge in footfall provides a substantial customer base for street vendors to cater to.

Dasara evokes a sense of joy, celebration and camaraderie and people are more inclined to spend on treats, toys and mementoes that enhance their festive experience. This spirit of celebration is where these street vendors find their niche.

Street vendors don't limit themselves to a single product; they offer a diverse range of items. From traditional handicrafts to contemporary toys and an array of mouthwatering snacks, vendors cater to a wide spectrum of tastes and preferences, ensuring they appeal to a broad audience.

Groups of street vendors are seen on the streets early in the morning with their colourful products, especially where the crowd is dense like the Mysore Palace, Zoo, bus stands and at a couple of places where popular events are held such as Aahara Mela and Flower Show.

They position their stalls strategically in areas with the highest foot traffic, ensuring maximum visibility and customer flow. Their presence becomes an integral part of the festival's ambience.

Places like Palace entrance gates from all sides, especially at Jayamarthanda and Jayarama-Balarama entrance, Chamaraja Wadiyar Circle, Chamarajendra Wadiyar Circle (Hardinge Circle), K.R. Circle, Town Hall surroundings and Exhibition Grounds have their large concentration.

From cotton candies to ice creams and kulfi, pani-puri, gobi manchurian, churumuri, toys and musical instruments like the dhol and flute, balloons and those shaped like animals and miniature versions of elephants and tigers — they sell all, not to mention the tasty snacks and juices.

Festival-goers can be seen indulging in these mouth-watering treats at every corner, enhancing the overall festive atmosphere. After spending nights at open spaces, bus stands and even in front of closed shops and bus shelters, these vendors gather on streets early in the morning and continue to do business till 11 pm only when crowds start leaving homes after seeing the illumination.

Many of the vendors with families have set up tents at Doddakere Maidan for the night's rest and they too crowd the streets early. Some of them even cook their food with locally available firewood and twigs.

Sometimes, desperate for sales, they typically offer their wares at competitive prices, making them an attractive option for budget-conscious festival-goers. The affordability of these goods often encourages impulse purchases. For street vendors, the earnings from selling their products during festival seasons represent a significant portion of their annual income.

Streets and footpath landscapes have transformed into a colourful marketplace. In fact, it is a win-win situation for both vendors and the buyers. While vendors profit from the monetary gain brought by the festival, visitors enjoy a multitude of offerings that enhance their celebration.

Channakeshava Temple replica shines at Millennium Circle

The illuminated replica of the Channakeshava Temple in Somnathpur (in T. Narasipur taluk of Mysuru) is currently on display at Millennium Circle, as part of the Dasara festival. This stunning replica is capturing the attention of all onlookers. The Channakeshava Temple, a remarkable piece of 12th-century Hoysala architecture, is one of only two such temples from that era in Karnataka. Recently, it was granted the prestigious UNESCO World Heritage Site tag, underscoring its cultural and historical significance. This illuminated replica serves as a fitting tribute to the temple's rich heritage and its new-found international recognition.

Mysuru: A Look at its Past...

By Gouri Satya, Sr. Journalist

Make Mysuru a City of Fountains, again

The revamped and restored Elgin Fountain, reviving memories.

The fountain at Dufferin Clock Tower, now dead and forgotten.

The restoration of the historic landmark Elgin Fountain is a major change in the stand of the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), which has been favouring the demolition of heritage and historic structures in the city unmindful of its civic responsibility. It had also proposed to demolish the Elgin Fountain and construct one with a new design in its place.

However, thanks to the timely intervention, it has been restored to remain a significant historical monument of Mysuru. Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Dr. K.V. Rajendra, who asked the MCC to drop the demolition proposal and instead beautify it in the 'as-is' state and preserve its heritage value, is to be complimented.

I recall a letter I wrote while I was in the US last year which Star of Mysore was kind enough to publish (Voice of the Reader - "City of Circles: Erasing History," Oct. 19, 2022) wherein I brought out the historical significance of this beautiful Fountain and underlining the need to preserve and protect this monument. Adding to the heritage city's importance, it has now escaped destruction and stands restored and its background is often referred in the newspaper reports now.

The Fountain has a chequered history of moving from one place to the other — from K.R. Circle to Dhanvantri Road and from there to Bengaluru-Mysuru Road and now finally rests at the Ashoka Road junction — a sort of 'moving fountain' of Mysuru!

During the Maharajas' rule, Mysuru saw many fountains within the small town. It was also a 'City of Fountains', a fact not many know. Fountains played at key Circles and in front of royal structures, joyfully attracting the evening walkers and nature lovers, now a thing of the past.

Chamaraja Wadiyar and Krishnaraja Wadiyar, in particular, beautified the then small town with fountains, springing waters up and above. These were big circular and artistic water founts, sending water into the air for a decorative and dramatic effect, not puny sprouts that just let water flow down a crooked pillar.

A dead fountain in Dufferin Clock Tower

The earliest fountain to be erected was the fountain in the Dufferin Clock Tower, opposite the Devaraja Market. It was erected between 1886-1891 to mark the visit of Lord Dufferin, again as part of the beautification of the area. The fountain now lies dead within the tower since long.

Fountains at Kuppanna Park come alive only during Dasara.

The Maharaja's College Fountain.

The fountain at Summer Palace near Karanji Lake.

The well-maintained fountain at Crawford Hall.

This was followed by the Elgin Fountain as already mentioned in 1892. Then came the Hardinge Circle Fountain at the present Jayachamaraja Circle. It was built to commemorate the visit of Lord Hardinge in 1913. This was a beautiful and big fountain colourfully illuminated in the evenings.

To the merriment of those assembled around it, it swayed and danced to the kiss of winds, spraying gems of water drops on them. People sat relaxed and enjoyed the cool breeze and fresh air on the stone benches around it. Now, this fountain has faded into history.

Close to it was the Nishad Bagh (Kuppanna Park) where a row of fountains sprang up as one approached the bandstand. This fountain comes alive only during Dasara season.

Mutilated and neglected

The fountain at the approach of the stepped garden at Lalitha Mahal Palace (1930) was another beauty. While the fountain has gone into oblivion, the seven-stepped garden stands mutilated and neglected. A fountain, still in working condition, is to be seen in front of the Maharaja's College, constructed as part of the Jubilee celebrations and inaugurated by none other than Maharaja Jayachamaraja Wadiyar. The fountain opposite Crawford Hall is, however, well-maintained.

Apart from these, there were fountains erected in front of the Jaganmohan Palace, with a cute image of a boy and girl holding an umbrella, one in front of Jayalakshmi Vilas Mansion, Cheluvamba Mansion, Lokranjan Mahal (the Summer Palace) and other royal mansions. Except for one or two, the rest either lie uncared for or destroyed.

Many lost fountains

The fountain opposite the MCC remains out of use like the one in front of the K.R. Hospital. The fountain near the City Railway Station welcomed passengers. It was later shifted to Government Ayurvedic Hospital Circle. The fountain at N. Madhava Rao Circle in Agrahara was the first Circle that was built during the 70s. The fountain here had an idol of Lord Shiva on the top. However, it has lost its charm. Thus, Mysuru has a history of fountains, most of which are out of action or have disappeared over a period.

These fountains and founts not only attracted people but also kept the environment around them clean. The MCC should take up a phased plan to restore and commission them and add a few more, including in the major extensions like Kuvempunagar, Jayalakshmipuram, Vidyaranayapuram, Nazarbad etc., and add grace and beauty to Mysuru, a tourist place, and more than all keep the area free from toxic air released by vehicles passing there. It would make Mysuru an alluring 'City of Fountains' both for the locals and the visitors.

VOICE OF THE READER

Tree growing on top of SBI, Ashoka Road !

Sir,

The above two photographs taken today say it all. Apparently, a peepal tree is growing on top of the State Bank of India (SBI) building on Ashoka Road, opposite Lashkar Police Station, Mysuru and the occupants seem oblivious to the threat posed by this growth. The tree has grown quite big and is healthy and the roots, very visible, have spread on the parapet with outer plaster coming off due to this.

It seems that the Bank Manager or the concerned have shown little interest in the face of a threat to this old building.

I urge the authorities, whether MCC or the Bank themselves, to immediately remove the tree in the interest of the building, unless they have better reasons to retain the tree on top of the building!

Vintage car rally enthralls people at Dasara

Originally designed to safely and correctly dispense petrol, this hand-pumped petrol pump is among M. Gopinath Shenoy's rare collections. The 'Shell' pump is operated with a hand pedal and is more than 100 years old. The pump shows the physical dispensation of petrol with the exact measurement.

The rally was inaugurated by Founder-Editor of Star of Mysore and Mysuru Mithra Dr. K.B. Ganapathy in the presence of Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha, MLA T.S. Srivatsa, BJP leader Giridhar, Gopinath Shenoy, Savithri Shenoy, wife of Gopinath Shenoy and son M.G. Madhav Shenoy.

The car rally that began at Hebbal travelled to the city through Ring Road, Hinkal, Hunsur Road, Crawford Hall, Double Road, Mysore Race Club, Lalitha Mahal Road, Field Marshal K.M. Cariappa Circle and reached Shenoy's bungalow near Kurubarahalli Circle, the final destination.

Over 24 cars participated in today's rally. They include Rolls Royce -1935, Ford -1909, Hindustan -10, Ambassador Limousine, Buick Road Master -1932, Willy Jeep -1960, Buick Road Master -1950, Cadillac -1930, Dodge Kingsway -1964, Ford -1931, Bedford Pick Up, Bukelnvecta, Buick Marsh -1957, Dodge -1957 and Cord Opra Royale -1950.

In his address, Dr. K.B. Ganapathy complimented public-private partnerships in the creative Dasara celebrations, offering more and more attractions to the public. He suggested that instead of holding a vintage car rally only during Dasara, a permanent exhibition or a museum must be created like Madame Tussauds Wax Museum in London so that these beauties can be seen year-round by the tourists.

On Gopinath Shenoy's impressive collection, he said that Shenoy has purpose and passion. "This shows his love and commitment to cars that were once part of history," he said.

Responding to Dr. Ganapathy on the permanent museum, MP Pratap Simha said that the process is on to set up a museum. "Probably next year during Dasara, we will have a vintage car museum in Mysuru," he assured.

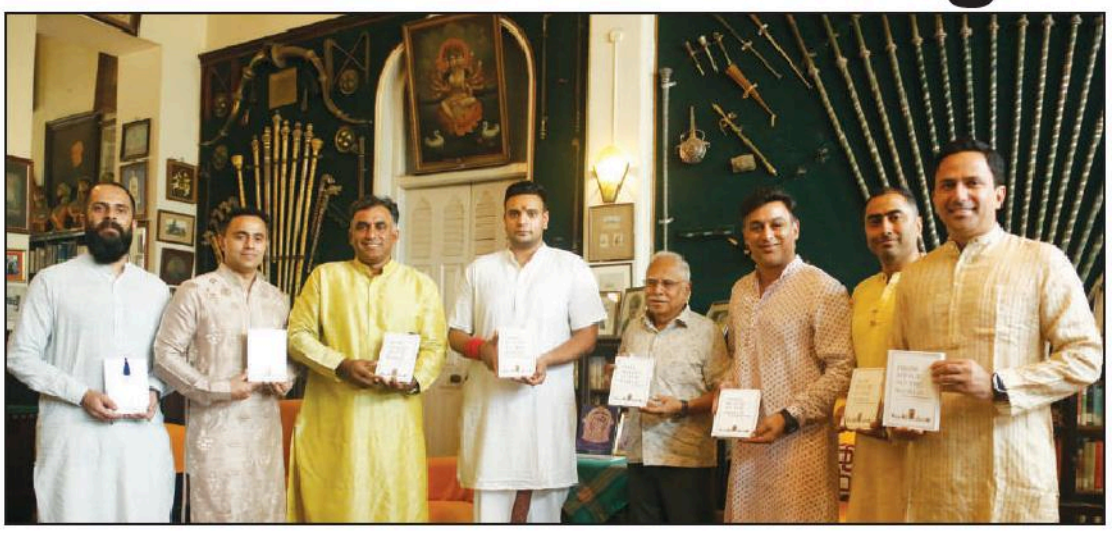
Commending Gopinath Shenoy for showcasing meticulously restored vintage cars, the MP said such events often draw crowds who admire the elegant vehicles.

Gopinath Shenoy boasts an impressive collection of vintage automobiles, with a staggering total of 30 to 35 cars, each ranging in age from 80 to 100 years. His assortment features a diverse range of vehicles, some of which were once owned by India's Maharajas, renowned for their extravagant taste in luxurious rides.

Shenoy fondly acknowledged the invaluable contributions of his friends and fellow vintage car experts who played an important role in assembling his collection. With over two decades dedicated to collecting these vehicles, he described it as his deep-seated passion and love for cars.

Yaduveer releases book 'From Mysuru to the World' on N. Ranga Rao

N. Ranga Rao and R. Sita couple



Mysuru, Oct. 20 (BCT)- Amidst the ongoing Dasara celebrations, scion of the erstwhile Mysore royal family Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar unveiled the book 'From Mysuru to the World' and a limited edition agarbathi 'Durbari' in tribute to N. Ranga Rao, the Founder of Cycle Pure Agarbathi, at Mysore Palace yesterday, commemorating his (Ranga Rao) birthday.

Addressing the gathering, Yaduveer said, "Today, the fragrance of Mysuru agarbathi enjoys global recognition and has earned the prestigious GI status. This is a testament to the enduring appeal of Mysuru Agarbathi, which has graced royal courts, temples, households and connecting us to the divine."

The book, titled 'From Mysuru to the World,' chronicles the remarkable life of the young entrepreneur, who established his agarbathi business in Mysuru shortly after Independence. He also went on to build a global conglomerate. The book is written by R. Guru, the eldest son of N. Ranga Rao and Chairman of N.R. Group. Speaking on the occasion, Guru said, "My father possessed an extraordinary ability to find the exceptional within the ordinary. He was an alchemist, a master perfumer who could transform simple ingredients into exquisite fragrances. He was innately gifted with a keen sense of business acumen and above all, cherished family relations. I believe his story will serve as an enduring source of inspiration for generations of young entrepreneurs."

Arjun Ranga, Managing Director of Cycle Pure Agarbathi, said, "During the 1953 Dasara, my grandfather's perfumes were awarded the gold medal. Today, exactly 70 years later, it's a privilege that Yaduveer is unveiling a book about him. Couples enjoy Heritage Tonga ride

Tourism Minister H.K. Patil and his wife, Mayor, Heritage Department Commissioner along with their spouses take a ride in decorated chariots

Mysuru, Oct. 20 (RK&BS)- The trotting horses drawing chariots decorated with flowers formed Heritage Tonga Ride for couples dressed in traditional attire, organised by Department of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage, as part of Dasara festival in the city this morning.

Tourism Minister H.K. Patil along with his wife Hema flagged off the ride, besides taking a ride in a chariot, from Rangacharlu Memorial Town Hall here. Likewise, Mayor Shivakumar and his wife Deepa and Commissioner of Department of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage Devaraju and his wife Kavitha took a ride in separate chariots.

Earlier, the couples were gifted a bagina containing eponymous Mysuru products like Mysore Mallige (Jasmine), Mysore Pak, Mysore Veelyedele (Betel leaves) among others.

Joint Director of Tourism Department M.K. Savita, who is also the Deputy Special Officer of Dasara Tourism Sub-Committee, Rajesh G. Gowda, Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA) and Prof. N.S. Rangaraju, retired Professor from Department of Ancient History and Archaeology, University of Mysore, were also present.

As many as 52 couples enthusiastically took part in the ride, that gave a glimpse of prominent buildings and roads of the city which still wear a heritage look, as they passed through Doddagadiyara (Silver Jubilee Clock Tower), Chamaraja Wadiyar Circle, K.R. Circle, Jaganmohan Palace, Circle near Lokayukta Office on Krishna Vilas road, old Deputy Commissioner's Office, Field Marshal K.M. Cariappa Circle, Babu Jagjivan Ram Circle near City Railway Station, Irwin Road and Government Ayurveda Hospital Circle, before culminating at the launch point (Town Hall).

In his address, Minister Patil said "Plans are on the anvil to launch a unique concept of adopting heritage buildings and monuments by private parties, the modalities of which are still being drawn. There is a dilemma over who should select the structures that would be adopted — the Government or private parties."

Mysuru Dasara that epitomises tradition and culture of the land is popular across the globe. On the other hand, the recently launched 'Heritage Walk and Heritage Talk' programme in the city will be organised continuously. Heritage Walk is organised on the first Saturday of every month and Heritage Talk on the last Saturday of the month, said Minister Patil.
